About The C.A.R.E. Channel

- Creates a space that supports health and well-being.
- Is a good alternative to commercial television.
- Lowers stress levels and reduces anxiety with relaxing, calming, and soothing imagery and music.
- Helps take patients' minds off of pain and discomfort by providing a positive distraction.

About The C.A.R.E. Channel

- Helps with rest/sleep by supporting the circadian rhythm and assists with masking noisy environments.
- Comforts by providing an ongoing therapeutic presence at the bedside when the patient is alone.
- Supports family members and loved ones while visiting (in many of the same aspects as listed above).

C.A.R.E. Channel Features

- 24-hour patient television channel.
- Up to 84 hours of nonrepetitive programming content.
- At 10 PM, the channel will transition to a beautiful sunset, then into a starfield, to let patients know it's time for sleep.
- At 6 AM, the channel will go from the starfield to a sunrise, signaling to patients it's time to start their day.
- Every year you will receive an annual content update including new scenes as well as editing improvements.
